Building Urged by Tree Warden

Advocates Housing Department Facilities Under One Roof—Wants Sprayers

A building to house an office, shop, garage and storage space for the tree and moth departments was advocated this week in a statement issued by tree warden G. Richard Abbott. "Providing enough space to have all equipment in one suitable building would add to the efficiency of the departments," the tree warden said. Mr. Abbott also advocated the replacing of two old sprayers by two small modern machines, stating that this year it has been necessary to put two shifts of men on the large sprayer to get all the trees sprayed in time.

The tree offices have been moved to 42 Park street, just beyond Bartlet street intersection. For the past few years they have been located at the rear of the Barnard block and before that at the rear of the Fraternal building.

The warden's complete statement follows:

The office and shop of the Tree and Moth Departments has been moved to 42 Park Street, this being a more suitable location having more light and an open driveway to the street. Because of the Fire Zoning Law we were unable to move our trucks to this building.

It would be well if the town would consider, plan and build a place for the Tree and Moth Departments, to consist of an office, shop, garage and storage. Providing enough space to have all equipment in one suitable building would add to the efficiency of the departments.

The departments now have three 1½ ton trucks, three small sprayers and one large sprayer besides other equipment.

During the past two months the men have spent practically all their time during good weather spraying trees. Frequent rains have interrupted and seriously delayed spraying.

Two of the small spraying machines are old, out of date and not now manufactured.

Keeping Cool in the Good Old Days

Imagine the sun-tan that these fair Andover ladies must have received. These bathing suits or ensembles were very much in style back in those days when a halter was something used on a horse. Look at the hussy on the right with the skirt almost up to her knees! For safety's sake, we shall not print the names of the bathing beauties.

No Accidents or Arrests on Fourth

Not a single accident and not a single arrest was the record set up here in Andover over the holiday week-end. Only one fire alarm was sounded, the department being called out at 11 o'clock Monday night to extinguish a blaze on the roof of a double-tenement house in Ballardvale. A hand chemical was sufficient to put out the fire.

Practically the only unusual incident, aside from the deer eating cabbage in West Andover, the airplane waking up the Hill residents and the motor boat disturbing the serenity of the river dwellers, was the mistaken identity of a sky-rocket on Main street. Believing that what he was shooting off was a Roman candle, a local man waved the pyrotechnic piece around in front of him, only to discover that it was a sky-rocket. It tore through the awning at Playdon's store and broke through a pane of glass just above the big plate glass window.

Traffic throughout the entire holiday period was very heavy, but it was handled without mishap by the augmented police force.

Postal Receipts Continue to Climb

Postal receipts at the local post office have shown a great increase over the preceding year's gross. For the three months' quarter ending June 30, the receipts were $1259.59 higher than last year's similar period.

The gross receipts for this year's quarter were $14908.42 and for the same time last year $13648.83.

WINS $25 AWARD

Mrs. Esther B. Harding of 9 Orchard street was awarded a $25 prize by the Andover merchants in the Treasure Hunt last Saturday morning. The claimant for last Saturday evening's prize has not yet appeared, and if he or she does not appear by tomorrow night there will be two awards of $25 each. Tomorrow night's award will take place at J. H. Playdon's.

Taxpayers Plan Budget Study

Plan to Request Departments to Allow Representative to Sit in on Discussions

A request that the various town boards allow a representative or representatives of the Andover Taxpayers' association to sit in with the boards at the annual budgetary sessions will shortly be made, as the result of a vote taken last night at the meeting of the TPA directors. The action was taken because of the difficulty experienced in past years in thoroughly understanding the various budgets in the short time after their final preparation and the annual town meeting. The hope was expressed by the directors that in this way they could assist the various departments in their budgetary problems and also assist the town in arriving at a better evaluation of the annual estimates of expenditures.

The directors this year are planning to get into action three months earlier than usual. In the past the annual meeting of the association has been held the second Monday in January, but this year and hereafter it will be held the second Monday in October, thus allowing ample time in which to study the problems that the town meeting will face. One of the chief and the

Other Folks Here in Andover

Swordfish Story

Jim Greeley bought a sword-fish on Tuesday; in fact he bought two swordfish.

Last week Jim and Howell Shepard were chatting about fishing, and in the course of the talk Shep said that he was going sword-fishing on the Chat Noir over the holidays. "Well," said Jim, "I'll buy all the sword-fish you bring in."

Jim was perfectly sure that the Chat Noir would return without sword-fish, and so on Tuesday morning he put in his usual order for the fish. An hour later he received a telephone call from Shep, "We're on our way with the sword-fish, Jim."

Just before noon Shep arrived in town with the fish's huge tail sticking out of the rear of his beach-wagon, and he headed right for the Essex street store. After the long sword had been cut off and the tail and fins, etc., it was weighed up, and Jim found that he had 147 pounds of swordfish to sell. With all its accessories the fish probably weighed about 200 pounds. It was ten feet long from bowsprit to rudder.

Shep's skipper had spent 45 minutes about three o'clock the day before catching the fish about 35 miles south south west of Nomans off Marthas Vineyard. A two-prong heavy hook is used to catch them, the hook being on the end of a long stick which is thrown in javelin fashion at the fish. Also on the hook is a rope, which bears the brunt of the struggle from there on, the stick being pulled back out of the hook.

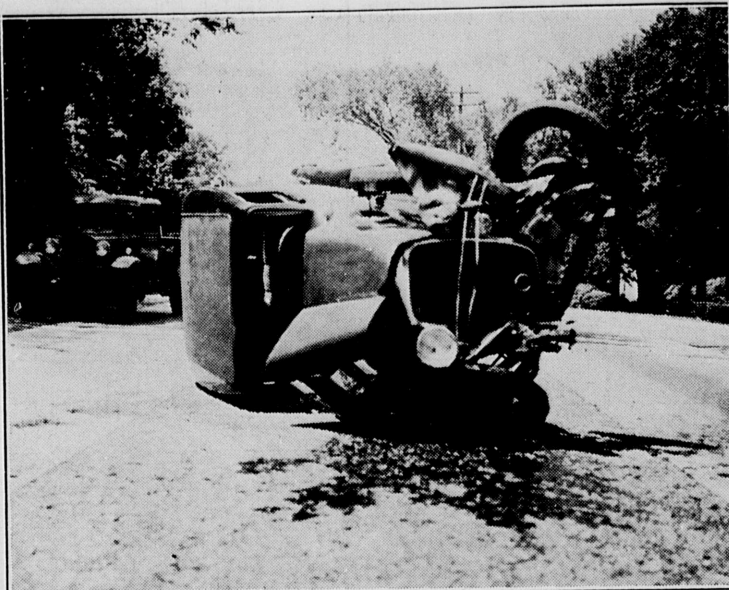

A few months ago Gus Remington, vice-president of the Taxpayers' association, made a little wager with Shep by virtue of which Gus was to pay Shep's membership in the T.P.A. if the tax rate were lower than $28. Shep won there, too, although with the Aberdeen's taxes to pay, Gus won't exactly miss the dollar for membership when he's saving $2.40 per thousand.

So be sure not to bet anything with Shep, or you may have 147 pounds of native swordfish to sell.

Traffic Delay

The traffic on Haverhill street was heavy on Monday evening, but the scent could have been heavier. For several minutes the homeward bound holiday motorists were held up by two nice little black animals with a white stripe down their

This Car Never Reached the Races

The occupants of the above car were going to the races. Two of them left the car after the crash and continued on to the races, for the horses are very important in some people's minds.

The accident took place a few weeks ago when the car Rockingham-bound went off the road near Hidden road and crashed into a tree. The tree incidentally was the same one that was hit by a Boston motorist at the time of the flood, killing a girl passenger and giving the motorist a six months' vacation in jail.

back and a bushy tail. True, the little polecats proved very inoffensive, but there's not an awful lot of sense in trying to find out whether they are inoffensive or not—and there might be an awful lot of scents.

Plane, Deer, Boat

Friday night provided a nice sample of the complaints that come into the police station. Here are three that appeared on the police blotter.

Number 1—An airplane has been flying low over Andover between four and five mornings, awakening the residents.

Number 2—Wild deer are damaging the crops on River road, favoring cabbage especially.

Number 3—A motor boat is going up and down the Merrimack, keeping the people in the riverside houses awake.

So next March we'll need appropriations for an air patrol, a police boat and—better roadways for the River road deer

Expect Pump to Arrive Soon

The fire department is all ready for the arrival of the new 500 gallon pump which is expected shortly, its delivery having been held up by a delay in connection with some of the lighting equipment.

The new pump will occupy the place in the station now taken by combination 2 which will be transferred to Ballardvale. Combination 1, the town's first motorized engine, which arrived in town 25 years ago this week, will be returned from Ballardvale and will be placed behind the brush fire truck beside the old ambulance. It will be used for general supply work, and may possibly carry the new lights bought last year.

The new pump will answer all alarms, and the 1000 gallon pump which answers all at present will only be sent out on serious fires. This will reduce the department's operating expense considerably.

The new piece will bring the total number of fire trucks to six, there being at present the two old combinations, the 1000 gallon pump, the ladder truck and the brush fire truck. The lights are at present on the ladder truck.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY MARKED

Mr. and Mrs. John Furness of Clark Road observed their silver wedding anniversary at their home Saturday with many friends in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Furness were united in marriage twenty-five years ago in the Crosland Moor Methodist Church at Yorkshire, England.

Flowers from the gardens of Cecil Jones and Mrs. J. McClellan adorned the home and the couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts together with anniversary cards.

EXTINGUISH AUTO BLAZE

The fire department answered a still alarm on Wednesday afternoon to extinguish a blaze caused by a short circuit in a parked car behind George Washington hall.

Chief Opposes Village Station

A proposal that came to light during the week in regard to a fire station in Shawsheen village is not being taken seriously by local fire officials. The proposal arose because of the recent serious fire in Shawsheen village.

Chief Charles F. Emerson stated Wednesday night that a separate station is not needed in Shawsheen village which is only a mile run from the Central station. Andover's apparatus was at the recent fire, he said, in short order after the call came through, and having a station in the village could not have helped in that particular situation.

The additional cost would be about $10,000 a year, the chief estimated. It would involve paying two new permanent men, and a number of call men. It would also mean building a station which would require maintenance money, and another engine would have to be bought.

The proposal suggested that the Shawsheen apparatus could work with the South Lawrence apparatus and vice versa as is done in a number of Greater Boston communities.

Personal Property Tax Bills Out

Most of the personal property tax bills have gone out, with the real estate bills yet to come. Many were surprised to find themselves this year on the personal property list, and the town house at times has been besieged by taxpayers who thought they had been dealt unfairly with.

The old personal property list, according to Chairman Shepard of the assessors, had been in use for over a decade with but few revisions, and this year the present board decided to bring the list up to date. It is not yet complete, but gradually the assessors hope to enroll all those who, perhaps without knowing it, have been evading this particular form of tax.

The tax is levied, at the town tax rate, on all household furniture, silverware, pianos, radios, jewelry, and other such tangibles, even including the coal in the bins and the oil in the tanks. An exemption of $1,000 is allowed, but everyone who has such property valued fairly at over $1,000 has to pay this tax. Each year a notice is posted in all the precincts and published legally in the Townsman instructing those who have personal property to file true lists with the assessors.

This year there was an increase of $164,000 in the personal property valuation from this source.

Doll Show to Be Held Next Week

The annual doll show will be held next week at the three playgrounds, Wednesday in Shawsheen, Thursday in the Vale and Friday at the center. There will be about twelve divisions, including largest, smallest, most natural, best-dressed, best national costume, oldest, most unusual, best decorated carriage, best stuffed toys, best twins, best rubber doll, and best home-made.

Children must enter the dolls, making their own decisions as to which division to put their dolls.

This year as last the ribbon award system will be used, blue for first, red for second and white for third. There will be a bronze medal awarded at each playground at the end of the season on the basis of three, two, and one points for the ribbons.

Handwork will commence next week. Tournaments will begin on Monday, July 19, and will run until August 13. There may be a few changes in the age limits, etc., this year.

Tonight the annual soap bubble contest will be held at the central playground. It will be open to children under ten years of age.

The attendance figure doubles this week, going over 200 nights at the Central playground. The heavy equipment was set up on Tuesday.

Arlene Stevens won first in the Ballard-vale soap-bubble contest last night, with Mary Daley second and Evelyn Stein third. The heat winners were: Elwin Matthews, and the three finals winners.

Edwin Brown and Rev. Marion Phelps were the judges, Mrs. Phelps the scorer and Mrs. Harry Trow the custodian of prizes.

The soap bubble contest was held Wednesday night at Shawsheen village, with the following prize-winners: Frederick Anderson, first; Kathleen Eastwood, second; Priscilla Bredbury, third. The judges were James B. Gillen, Mrs. Carlton E. Schulze and Frank R. MacMackin.

HOLD-UP MAN JAILED
Three Greater Boston men, wanted by local police in connection with the hold-up of Howard Johnson's some time ago, may not come to trial here. Two of them have already been found guilty of a hold-up in Lowell and they will probably remain in Middlesex county for some time, having received long jail terms.

Committee Should Study Possibility of Building Central Office and Equipment Unit

Tree Warden G. Richard Abbott made a suggestion this week that a new building be built for the tree and moth departments in order to provide means for more efficient handling of the two departments' work. A few years ago when the tree department was located in an old hired tumble-down shack at the rear of the Fraternal building, the Townsman in an editorial recommended that the matter of a town building for this purpose be looked into. Since that time the two departments have shifted first to a building at the rear of the Barnard block and now to a site up Park street beyond Bartlet. Neither place, the warden feels, or perhaps any other private place in town, can provide the tree workers with the proper facilities needed to get the most out of the town appropriations for this work.

The town meeting this year voted to have a committee appointed to consider a more efficient arrangement of town offices, and it is hoped that this committee will also add the tree department's problem to its important task. It should consider whether or not the present-day helter-skelter plan, or lack of plan, under which our town offices and town equipment are spread all around, should be tossed out in favor of a centralized unit which might provide more convenience for the citizenry and which might also enable the town employees to do their work more efficiently.

The Board of Public Works office is in a private block for which the town has to pay rent; the Board of Health office is or was in a private store which has since been closed; the many pieces of town motor equipment, trucks, cars, tractors, plows, sprayers, etc., are all scattered around, some of them being kept in private places where rent has to be paid; the fire station is becoming crowded with apparatus in such a way that to move one piece, another one has to be moved out onto the street first. All these matters should be considered together with the tree department's present situation in an endeavor to see if some central unit could be constructed to house these various departments. Possibly the area next to the fire station on Park street could be changed to accomplish this, and it certainly would be a handy location. It is town land, but in its present use it is not accomplishing as much as it well could.

It would all cost something of course, but it would eliminate all the private rentals now being paid, in addition to providing more satisfactory accommodations for the employees and the public alike. The cost and the return must be considered by the committee authorized by the town in order to see whether it might be a wise move to make.

Siftings

If the labor situation gets any worse, it will be about time for the Nation's officials to go fishing again.

Why should we worry about how long the heat will last? The heat's not worrying about how long we'll last.

Why doesn't the President make a personal tour through the strike-stricken areas similar to that "non-political" pre-election tour through the drought areas last year?

No accidents, no arrests. The Fourth isn't what it used to be, thank Heaven.

Dessert Bridge Held by Auxiliary

A very successful dessert bridge was held by the Ladies' auxiliary to the Andover Male choir Wednesday afternoon on the lawn of Mrs. J. Everett Collins at 35 Summer street. A prize was awarded for each table.

Mrs. Herbert Herrick was in charge, assisted by Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Clinton H. Stevens, Mrs. Leverett Putnam, Mrs. Alfred Greenfield, Mrs. James P. Christie, Mrs. David Coutts, Miss Marion Abbott, Mrs. Frank Kellett, Mrs. Edward Rowbottom, Mrs. Carl Wetterberg and Mrs. Paul Robbins.

Sabbath and the Fourth

Ballardvale, Mass., July 4, 1937
TO THE EDITOR OF THE TOWNSMAN:

It does not seem to me like good manners to set off fire-crackers right outside a church during the service, so that the pastor's prayer is heard as "Grant unto us—bang!—a sense of peace," and similar punctuation enters into the Lord's Prayer, the Doxology, etc.

However, some folks don't care whether they have good manners or bad, and some folks would rather have bad manners than good.

Edmands—Hawes

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hawes of Centralia, Washington, announce the marriage of their daughter Mary A. to Ensign Allan C. Edmands, U.S. Navy, son of Mrs. Mary C. Edmands of Wolcott avenue, on Monday, June 21, at San Diego, California.

The marriage ceremony was conducted by Rev. The bride who was born in the South, has lived in Centralia for several years. She has just completed a two year course in the business college in Seattle, Washington.

Ensign Edmands was born in Cliftondale, but has lived in Andover practically all his life and was educated in the local public schools graduating from Pynchard high in the class of 1929. After entering the Navy he was among those competing for appointments to the Naval

Obituaries

Charles L. White

Charles L. White, a native of Andover and a long-time resident here, died Saturday at his home in Los Angeles, California.

Born in Andover May 30, 1860, the son of Burnham S. and Mary (Sawyer) White, he was employed for many years in textile plants in North Andover and Haverhill, prior to returning to Andover as a superintendent at the Marland Mills.

He leaves a daughter, Sarah Bingham Marion of Los Angeles, and a son, C. Burnham White of Tacoma, Washington.

Funeral services took place in Los Angeles Wednesday.

Mrs. Alice Stopford

Mrs. Alice Stopford passed away yesterday at her home, 47 Summer street. She had lived in Andover for about a year, coming here from a long residence in Methuen. She was born in Ashton, Underline-Lancashire, England.

She leaves a son William W. Stopford of this town.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at two at the late home by Rev. Charles W. Herny of Chelmsford. Burial will be in the Bellevue cemetery.

Hugh Mears

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at two at his late home, 50 Franklin street, Milford.

Taxpayers Plan Budget Study

difficulties in the past has been the short two months' time in which the directors had to wade through the mass of figures in the annual estimates.

Talks on Tax Rate

Chairman Howell F. Shepard of the Board of Assessors gave a very interesting talk on the make-up of the tax rate and also on a number of other problems which the town eventually will have to face. He pointed out that the return to the town this year on machinery tax was only $22,000 odd as against last year's near $48,000, and in a very few years this return will be entirely wiped out, thus giving the town's income a substantial cut. At the same time there has also been a decrease in valuation through the loss of machinery taxation of nearly $1,500,000, made up in part by a $223,000 increase in real estate and an increase of $164,000 in personal property valuation. Of the real estate increase most of it is new construction while some is previously idle mill property.

Other matters discussed while Mr. Shepard was present were the possibilities of having all the town collecting work centralized under one head (taxes, water rates, etc.) and of having the town's inspecting also centralized under one head (building, wire, weights and measures, plumbing, etc.) No action was taken either for or against these proposals.

To Appoint Committee

The President, Edmond E. Hammond, was instructed to appoint a nominating committee to draw up a slate of directors, secretary and treasurer for the annual meeting. The president and vice-president are chosen by the directors.

It was voted to transfer $200 to the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' association as annual dues. This is in lieu of taking place in the annual Federation Mobilization which would have been based upon an assessment per taxpayer of fifty cents per thousand of valuation.

The treasurer, Frederic S. Boutwell, reported that the association's treasury had about $870 at present. The secretary reported the membership at between 500 and 600. Of the expenditures for the first few months of the year about $195 was spent for membership work, $200 for the pre-town-meeting educational campaign in an endeavor to keep the tax rate at a reasonable figure, and $27 for administration. The expenditures have been divided fairly evenly between postage for the large amount of mail to the 2200 taxpayers, printing of the membership letters and the educational matter, and the vast amount of clerical work involved in sending out the various batches of information to the 2200 taxpayers.

Shiftlessness expresses itself in a thousand different ways.

Motorist Faces Neglect Charge

Brought into Lawrence District court Wednesday morning by Andover police on five different automobile charges, Lewis Corbin of Lowell found himself faced with another difficulty when it was revealed that the Lawrence police had a capias for him on a default in a non-support case. Judge Chandler continued the case until Monday, set bail at $500 on the automobile charges and removed the default.

Corbin was wanted for neglecting to support his wife and children who now live in Worcester. On May 24, 1935, the Lawrence court had ordered him to pay six dollars a week toward their support.

The car which Corbin was allegedly driving on Lowell street on Tuesday night was one which he borrowed from its owners for fifteen minutes on Saturday. The fifteen minutes was to have been a try-out period, and if Corbin was satisfied, he was to keep the car. Evidently he was satisfied, for the fifteen minutes stretched out for several days, Corbin wiring the owner that he would pay him for it on Thursday. The optioned car was demolished Tuesday night, however.

Corbin first told police that the car was being driven by a woman who got away after the accident, but on Wednesday morning he pleaded guilty to operating so as to endanger. Not guilty pleas were entered to charges of operating under the influence, drunkenness, leaving the scene after damage to property and operating without a license.

The accident occurred about midnight on Lowell street near the Maples, with the Corbin car colliding with another machine and then a tree.

Award Contract for School Oil

The Cross coal company has been awarded the school fuel oil contract for the coming school year by the school committee at a price of 6.9 cents per gallon, varying with the Boston tank car price and not to exceed 7.9 cents. The price will be one-and one-half cents above the Boston wholesale tank car price.

The Cross bid was lowest for the four firms which submitted bids on the approximately 21,000 gallons required for the North, West, Bradley schools and gymnasium. The oil burner is at present being installed in the Bradley school.

The new price is higher than last year's figure, which was 6 1/4 cents per gallon, and this will make a difference of at least $150 in the year's total oil bill.

Mixes Andover and Wakefield

Stopped in Andover when he thought he was in Wakefield just over the hill from Stoneham, Murray H. Stewart of Stoneham appeared in District Court in Lawrence on Tuesday morning on charges of drunkenness and operating under the influence. Officer Jowett, who arrested the man on June 27 after a chase, testified that the truck-driver had pleaded with him to "give him a break and let him go over the hill into Stoneham."

Judge Chandler decided that the defendant's inability to keep his geography straight while driving was worth fifty dollars to the state.

factured. Another small machine, while in good condition, is of small capacity and not suited for town work.

At least the two old sprayers should be replaced with two modern machines rated at 20 to 25 gallons a minute capacity and with 200 gallon tanks. Machines of this type are flexible and do fine work on low trees, or the output can be increased to spray large shade trees, and would be of great assistance in spraying the roadsides against the tent caterpillars, and later on, the street trees and thus save depending on the large sprayer entirely. The large sprayer is rated at 50 gallons a minute capacity with a 400 gallon tank. This sprayer does good work but should not be depended upon entirely for street tree spraying. As things look now, it seems as if we would be threatened with a bad outbreak of gipsy and browntail caterpillars. A breakdown at such a time would cause serious delay and damage. This year this machine was run with two shifts of men, working from five o'clock in the morning until seven or seven-thirty in the evening, in order to spray all street trees as soon as possible. The State Highway trees in town were sprayed for the State and also many shade trees on private estates, the latter being charged for the work.

The foliage on all shrubs and trees is heavier and of deeper color this year than for many years due, probably, to frequent rains.

A general complaint of leaves falling is due no doubt to trees not being able to carry such heavy foliage over a long period, and, in part, to squirrels chewing off seeds and leaves, rock maple leaf stem borer, Norway maple leaf stem miner, aphids, and some leaf cutting beetles.

Andover has escaped well from the heavy feeding of the gipsy and browntail caterpillars so noticeable in many towns. But only by constant work can we hope to escape as there are many badly infested spots on the borders of the town.

The elm leaf beetle has caused some damage this year and any infestation of larvae will show up this month.

While the Dutch Elm Disease has not been found in Massachusetts it should be watched for from now on through the summer. The following notice has been received from the Massachusetts State College in regard to the Dutch Elm Disease:

Threatens destruction of the American Elm.

Is not known to be in Massachusetts, but its entrance is imminent.

The only hope of saving our elms lies in early discovery and prompt destruction of the first infected trees.

Watch for dying branches; wilting and yellowing leaves on terminal twigs; premature leaf-fall; brown streaks or spots showing in outer wood rings and under the bark of sections cut from wilt-affected branches.

If these signs appear, cut six-inch sections of half-inch diseased twigs; label with location of the trees and your name and address; wrap securely; send to The Dutch Elm Disease Laboratory, Clark Hall, M.S.C., Amherst, Mass.

Mid-Summer Recollection of Mid-Winter in Andover

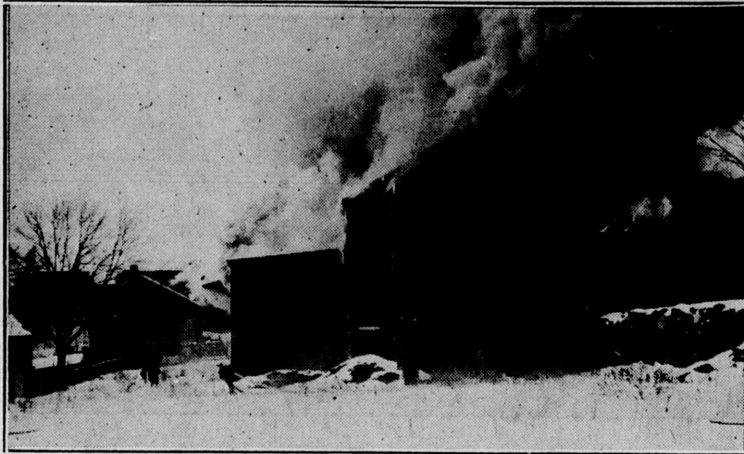

We've been saving these pictures just to cheer you up. At top left is the big storm of two years ago, and at the right is the same place in a storm 25 years ago. The next two are Main street in front of the town hall many years ago and Chestnut street looking toward Christ church. Next are Main street south from the square and Park street near the fire station. At the bottom are a rotary plow, the last incidentally to appear in Andover square, and Main street looking north from Chestnut.

Blaze in Chemical Shop in 1917

This was one of the most unpleasant fires the local department ever had to extinguish. It was the old Beaver Chemical company building, near the Colonial theatre building, the rear of which may be seen at the left. Known by a less delicate name, the chemical shop provided fumes which made the firemen's mid-winter task very difficult. This fire took place on December 11, 1917, and caused damage estimated at $20,000. On May 6, 1918, there was a fire in the old ruins.

The building was at one time the old Hardy and Cole shop.

Will Discontinue Treasure Hunt

The Andover merchants last night at a meeting at the Wildwood Inn decided to discontinue the Andover treasure hunt after tomorrow night's double drawing.

Many other matters were discussed by the new organization, including concerted action on various types of solicitations as is the case in Lawrence and Reading and a program of sales, such as dollar days, White Elephants sales and school-opening sales.

No definite action was taken on either matter. There were over thirty present at the meeting.

The committee of merchants in charge of the organization includes: Edward Butler, Henry Miller, J. Harry Playdon, Carl Elander, W. R. Hill, Harry Hyland, David Burns, Fred Yunggebauer, John White, John H. Grecoe and Chairman T. Augustine Farragher.

SELECTMAN SHEPARD WINS HIS BET

A few days ago Selectman Shepard said he was going fishing for swordfish and wanted to know if he could supply us for the week. I bet him that he wouldn't catch one bigger than a cod, but I guess I didn't know Shepard. He made good his boast and brought one home weighing 200 lbs. and measuring 10 feet from tip to tip and I never put a knife into a better fish.

Moral: Don't make any bets with Shepard.

Group Talks of New Town Hall

Plans for a new town hall, to be erected eventually here, are under discussion at present by the special committee appointed as an aftermath of the annual town meeting vote asking for a study of possible centralization of town offices. The new hall would have most of the town offices under one roof, with ample space for all the present ever-growing administrative requirements.

Among possible sites discussed is the estate of the late David Shaw on Main street near the post office. Mrs. Shaw now owns the property, having been bequeathed it by her late husband. Mr. Shaw had often expressed the hope that some day the town could have a new municipal building on his estate.

Given Release at Beverly Church

Rev. Herman C. Johnson, recently called to the Free church, was released from the Essex South association of Congregational Churches and Ministers at an ecclesiastical session in Beverly Tuesday. His pastoral relationship with the Washington Street church was also severed.

The following resolutions were adopted by the council:

Whereas a call has come to Rev. Herman C. Johnson, minister of the Washington Street Congregational church, Beverly, to serve as the minister of the Free Christian church, Andover, and he has accepted this call, believing that it opens the way for wider service in the Kingdom of God, the following resolutions are adopted by Ecclesiastical Council of Essex South Association of Congregational Churches, meeting in Beverly, July 6, 1937:

Be it resolved that while it is with regret that we dismiss Rev. Herman C. Johnson from the ministerial fellowship of our association, yet it is with high expectation that we commend him to the ministry of the Free Christian church of Andover, and to the fellowship of the Essex North association. During a pastorate of over six years, Rev. Mr. Johnson has fulfilled his ministerial office with dignity and discrimination. He has maintained high standards as a preacher and a pastor and has displayed Christian courtesy and courage in all his associations with individuals and community enterprises. As scribe of our association he has efficiently and faithfully handled the many details of that exacting office, and we have enjoyed the privilege of his friendship.

Be it resolved that we extend to the members of the Washington Street church our appreciation for the example of harmony and concord which has been manifested in the relations between pastor and people. In the coming period of transition resulting from the loss of a respected leader, we offer our sincere sympathy. We trust that the deliberations and decisions for the future leadership and welfare of Washington Street church may be made with confident faith in the bond of Christian love which is essential in holding our churches of the Congregational order in unity and power.

Be it further resolved that we are not unmindful of the minister's wife, Mrs. Herman C. Johnson, and the splendid manner in which she has given of herself in the life of the parish. She has ably supported and enlarged her husband's ministry in Beverly. Our genuine good wishes are with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and infant son as they prepare to establish their new home in Andover, and we rejoice with them in the challenge and anticipation of their new pastorate.

Respectfully submitted,

Junior Legion Breaks Even

The Andover Junior Legion team split even in two games this week, losing last Friday 11 to 0 to the league-leading East Lynn team and defeating Gloucester 5 to 4 on Wednesday night. The team now has won five and lost three, running third to East Lynn and Lawrence in the league standing.

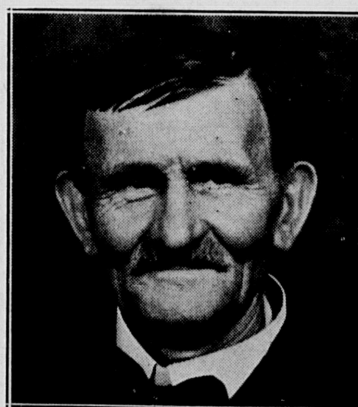

Four runs in the second and another in the fifth gave the local team the victory on Wednesday, with Gloucester scoring two in the second and two in the sixth. Bishop and Anderson with two hits apiece played a large part in the victory, one of Anderson's hits being a double. Each team made eight hits, and Andover's fielding was poorer than the visitors', but the hits were more timely.
